STRATEGY WILL WIN DEMOCRAT RACE, IS CLAIM

Claims of Candidates Must Be Checked to Understand Case, Lawrence Says

TABLES SHOW STRENGTH

Neither McAdoo Nor Others Has Prospect of Winning Sufficient Majority

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.

New York — Like a railroad time table—subject to change without notice—is the list of claims of the various candidates for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. The victory will be won by sheer strategy, skillful management, and a proper estimate of convention psychology at the opportune moment. But to understand what is about to happen, to get the background of events, so to speak, these claims of candidates have to be checked and counter-checked.

The writer has obtained from one of the McAdoo managers a table which represents the maximum strength thus far of the former secretary of the treasury. Submitting this estimate to one of the most powerful leaders in the Democratic party irreconcilably opposed to McAdoo, certain comments were made. Having thus obtained the pro and the con from two opposite sources, the table is given not with the idea that it will be followed in the balloting but as an indication of just where each side expects to recruit its votes in the first test which inevitably will be between McAdoo and Smith. The thirty-six votes of the territories are omitted because of the uncertainty on all sides as to their eventual allocation. The bedrock McAdoo table shows a total of 312 instructed or pledged for McAdoo, 302 friendly to McAdoo, and 440 anti McAdoo.

McADOO EXPECTS 614

The second column contains many states who will have favorite sons but who are expected to go to McAdoo on the third or fourth ballot, so adding 312 and 302 gives a maximum friendly strength of 614 for McAdoo. Out of the third column, the McAdoo managers figure they can get the 118 other votes needed to make the required 682 which is the two-thirds necessary to nominate. They look for an additional 24 votes from New York if a break up comes, 10 from New Jersey, 6 from Rhode Island, 10 from Maryland, 8 from Virginia, 6 from Florida, 12 from Alabama, 4 from West Virginia, 4 from Ohio, 20 from Indiana, 10 more from Illinois, 4 from Wisconsin, 6 from Washington, which totals 124 and, of course, the McAdoo people expect some of the 36 votes which come from Alaska, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Hawaii, Canal Zone, and the District of Columbia.

FOES DISAGREE

The foregoing when checked over by a bitter foe of McAdoo, a man who controls many votes and who says he never will vote for McAdoo, brought out several points of disagreement on the second and third columns, which, subtracted from the totals would appear to be 304 conceded to McAdoo as instructed or endorsed and 208 friendly or a maximum of 512 votes which leaves 550 anti-McAdoo outside of the territories. This same individual gives as his own prediction that McAdoo will have 407 on the first ballot and 492 on the second ballot and that he never will have enough to pass the majority mark which is 548.

The McAdoo managers, on the other hand, are confident that they will run up to 550 in a few ballots and then they will make a supreme effort to have the convention make a nomination either by majority rule or the appeal to enough degelations to break away to furnish the necessary two-thirds. But from both sides it can be written down even at this date that neither McAdoo nor anyone else has a two-thirds vote assured and the McAdoo claim of a majority is disputed.

EAGLES REELECT ESSER AS CHIEF

Beaver Dam — George H. Esser, Janesville, was re-elected president of the Eagles of Wisconsin at the twenty-first annual convention of the organization here.

Other officers re-elected are Theodore C. Rube, vice president, Sheboygan; Murt Malone, Oshkosh, secretary; Carl C. Adams, Juneau, treasurer; Colonel John S. Schneller, Neenah, chaplain; W. J. Stanton, conductor, Fort Atkinson; A. J. Lautenbach, inside guard, Plymouth; Thomas Calder, outside guard, Merrill.

The following trustees were elected Jack Herman, Kenosha, chairman; Jacob L. Krings, Madison and John A. Thomas, Marshfield.

GILLETTE TIRE AND RUBBER CO. LICENSED

Madison—Charters granted by Secretary of State Friday include: Pabst Sales corporation, Milwaukee, $20,000; Gillette Tire and Rubber Co., Eau Claire; Rex Sales and Service Co., Chippewa Falls, $30,000; Foreign corporation, Harcourt Building Co., Minnesota Corporation, A. W. Bergstrom, Superior, Wisconsin agent.

Deaths End Climbing Of Mt. Everest

By Associated Press

London—Mount Everest, the great irregular cone in the Himalayas, whose peak constitutes the outermost point on the earth's crust, is still unconquered. The third expedition of intrepid climbers, like its predecessors, has failed, two of the explorers perishing in the final effort.

While the disaster occurred probably a fortnight ago, the full details have not yet come through. Brief dispatches received by Sir Francis Young, president of the Royal Geographical society, however, indicate that the two victims, George Leigh Mallory and a C. Ervine succumbed when the climbers were caught by a monsoon. The end came after the explorers had won their way by hard struggles through weeks of terrible blizzards to a position which promised them a chance of success.

STORMS AND HEAT CAUSE 20 DEATHS AND GREAT LOSSES

Father and Two Children Killed When Tree Is Blown Down on Auto

Chicago — More than a score of deaths and property damage estimated at upwards of $3,000,000 is the result in three states of the hot wave and the storm which Friday swept through the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, bringing lowered temperatures.

Five deaths from the storm in Illinois were added to the heat fatalities of several states. A seven-year-old girl was killed at Polo, Ill., when she stepped on a live wire blown down by the wind. Ernest Ayresman, 28, and his two children, of Gibson City, Ill., were killed when a large tree fell on the automobile in which he was riding with them. Joseph Masek, Stickney, Ill., was killed by a bolt of lightning.

Eight persons were reported prostrated by the heat in Chicago and fifteen persons were said to have been bitten by heat crazed dogs. Although considerable damage was done by the storm throughout northern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin, Chicago suffered little.

With 17 deaths reported due to heat in Ohio, relief was afforded by a violent windstorm which swept several sections.

The greatest damage of the storm occurred in Racine co where a half-mile-wide strip, 12 miles long was swept with estimated property loss of nearly $2,000,000. Telegraph lines were torn down and train service impaired.

Detroit—Two persons, both unidentified, met death Friday as a result of unusual weather conditions. The first man was found dead on the street, overcome by the heat when the thermometer rose to 92. The second, a woman, occurred Friday night during a thunderstorm, when she fell or jumped from a street car which had been struck by lightning, fracturing her skull. The lightning blew all the fuses and plunged the car in darkness. The conductor opened the door to pull the trolley as a precaution against damage by the lightning, and the woman fell to the pavement.

The thunderstorm, which was general over lower Michigan, brought relief from a 2-day hot wave. No damage in the state had been reported early Saturday, except at Lansing where a hail storm caused losses estimated at several thousand dollars.

BROTHERS FREED IN SECOND TRIAL

Missouri Youths Implicated in Fond du Lac Slaying Are Acquitted

Fond du Lac—Arvil and Oliver Jones, youthful brothers, residents of Missouri, once sentenced to long terms of imprisonment in the state reformatory for complicity in the slaying of Elno Jacobs, a Soo line detective, Saturday were at liberty, having been acquitted of the charge of second degree murder, at their second trial just closed here.

Upon their previous conviction the brothers appealed their case to the supreme court which granted them a new trial on the ground that confessions were obtained through illegal means.

Jacobs was killed last October when he attempted to arrest the pair in a box car. The brothers claimed they shot the detective in the belief they were being attacked by a person not an officer. They claimed self-defense.

A portion of the previous sentence had been served.

COAST GUARD CAPTURES ELUSIVE RUM RUNNERS

Boston—The steamer Tabosa, flying the Pan-American flag, sought for six months by the coast guard as the most elusive rum runner along the New England coast, was towed in here Saturday by the coast guard cutter Acushnet. She was captured off Black island Thursday.

PLAN LAUNCHED FOR MERGER OF FIVE GRAIN FIRMS

Program Is Endorsed By President of Armour Grain Co., Is Report

By Associated Press

Chicago—A plan for grain farmers to own and control a huge system of elevators and grain facilities now controlled by five large board of trade firms which would be merged in a co-operative association, Saturday was in the hands of a committee of the American Farm Bureau federation, headed by O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation and chairman of the committee.

The merger plan would involve about $25,000,000 it was said, representing the appraised value of the properties of the five companies.

The plan was endorsed by George Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Co., who said he believed it would go through.

Although the firm of James A. Patten, known as the "wheat king" until he retired from operations on the board of trade, was mentioned in an announcement from the farm bureau federation late Friday, Mr. Patten Saturday said he had no connection with the merger arrangements. He explained that his company leased its elevators from the Bartlett and Frazier estates, which he said might be willing to sell their properties at a good price but nothing definite had been done toward their disposal. Mr. Patten made it plain that he himself had had no connection with the plan.

SENATOR WILL STAY ON HIGHWAY BOARD

By Associated Press

Madison—Senator George Staudenmayer of Portage will not tender his resignation to Governor Blaine as a member of the highway commission at the present time, he announced Saturday after an extended conference with the governor Friday. Mr. Staudenmayer was planning on offering his resignation but said the governor did not approve such a plan.

However, Senator Staudenmayer will address a communication to the governor within a few days in which he will outline his complete stand on highway matters. He said he will do this to make his stand plain because records of the commission do not show up his vote on various propositions.

C. A. Budlong Objects to Statement of Congressman That He Feels "Duty Bound to Run."

Marinette—C. A. Budlong, police judge of Marinette and a prominent figure in state and county politics for the last 22 years, announced his candidacy Saturday for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Ninth Wisconsin district, against the incumbent, George J. Schneider.

"After taking in consideration the fact that Representative Schneider is seeking re-nomination as a Republican and at the same time declaring himself opposed to the national Republican ticket, Mr. Budlong declared after making the announcement, "I feel duty bound to enter the race. I think Republicans of this district should be represented by a Republican who is one at all times and not only when running for office," the judge concluded.

Judge Budlong's career is marked with many years of public service. He has been inspector of the state board of control for eight years, served as clerk of circuit court for six terms, sheriff for one term, member of state legislature for one term and was recently elected police judge by an overwhelming majority.

ATTORNEYS SPEED JUDGE ON VOYAGE

Wausau—Judge A. H. Reid, on the eve of his departure for an extended visit abroad, was Friday evening tendered a "bon voyage" banquet by the Marathon Bar association, which had invited all lawyers and judges of the sixteenth judicial district where Judge Reid had presided as circuit judge for upwards of 16 years, and the event was attended by 48 attorneys presiding in Marathon, Lincoln, Vilas, Oneida, and Shawano-cos, who after the repast served in the new Wausau club, expressed heartfelt appreciation for the service long given them and their districts by the judge and each and all wished him a happy voyage, one replete with enjoyment and freedom from care and misfortune, and a safe return.

L. A. Pradt, Sr., oldest practioner of the Wausau bar, acted as the toastmaster, and with ready wit and kindly thoughtfulness, also introduced representatives from each county.

MILWAUKEE MAN NAMED HEAD OF REGENT BOARD

Madison—Theodore Kronshage, Milwaukee, Saturday was named president of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin.

Election of officers was the principal work scheduled to come before the board. Kronshage succeeds W. G. Koehler, of Koehler.

MAN FALLS IN PATH OF TRUCK AND IS KILLED

Heman Newell, 71, Meets Death on Eve of Departure for New Home

The plans of an old man to spend his declining years in Milwaukee were frustrated Saturday morning when Heman Newell, 71, of 683 North-st, falling in front of a Marston Brothers truck, was fatally injured as the wheels passed over the upper part of his body. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock at the corner of Franklin and Oneida-sts. He died at St. Elizabeth hospital less than three hours later.

According to those who saw the accident, Mr. Newell was standing on the corner when the truck approached, and the driver, William Krueger, 856 Second-st, did not sense that there was danger until the rear wheels passed over the old man's body just above the abdomen.

FELL BETWEEN WHEELS

Those who saw the accident were the driver of a Kimberly bus, M. C. Joergenmeier, 225 Taylor-st, Kaukauna, and a passenger, Matthew Vandalen, Little Chute. They were about a half block away when they saw the man fall forward between the front and rear wheels of the truck. It is thought the he became faint, falling forward on his face.

He was unconscious when picked up and taken to the ambulance department of Boyer's funeral home where it was found that his injuries were very serious. He was conveyed immediately to St. Elizabeth hospital, and Mrs. Newell was notified of the accident.

BEYOND HELP

Due to his extreme age and the great shock he had suffered, an operation was quite out of the question. He died at about 1:45 and an autopsy was to be taken Saturday afternoon to determine the exact cause of death. His injuries were described as a fracture of the pelvis, fractures of several ribs, injuries to the lower vertebrae and possible internal hemorrhages.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell had just sold their home and were making preparations to move to Milwaukee, to be among friends and relatives there. Mr. Newell was anticipating this trip with pleasure. He had lived in Appleton most of his life and was actively employed until a few days ago.

PREMIERS WILL MEET PRIVATELY

Herriot and McDonald Plan to Keep Subject from Publication

London — The conference between the new French premier, M. Herriot, and Premier MacDonald, at Choquers Court Saturday will be private, it is announced, and nothing will be issued for publication. M. Herriot was due to arrive Saturday afternoon and planned immediately to motor from London to Chequers, accompanied by Premier MacDonald's secretary, Sir Ronnld Waterhouse, and his own interpretor.

The diplomatic writers say no formal program of discussion has been arranged but that naturally the Dawes reparation report will occupy a large share of the time, while the inter-allied debts are also expected to be the subject of an extended discussion.

M'Adoo Is Silent On Party Plan

Several Leaders Regard It Probable That Dry Question Will Be Taken to Floor, But Drys Are Confident.

By Associated Press

New York—Redoubled efforts to strengthen their positions Saturday occupied the camps of William G. McAdoo and Governor Alfred E. Smith as the Democratic national committee went into session to complete final arrangements for the opening of the national convention at Madison Square Garden next Tuesday.

The fight between the Smith and McAdoo forces easily was the dominating feature of the closing days of the pre-convention period, but other issues, particularly that of the Ku Klux Klan, also held prominent places in the discussion among the assembling delegates.

An increasing demand from George E. Brennan of Illinois, and leaders from other states that the platform declare specifically against the Klan added to the difficulties of the platform builders who already were divided on that point.

McADOO IS SILENT

Meanwhile Mr. McAdoo maintained silence on this and other planks in the platform. At his headquarters it was made known that he had not contested party leaders on that or other questions which are giving concern to the group who are undertaking to shape up a general party expression for presentation to the platform committee which will be organized with the meeting of the convention.

Predictions that the Klan issue would find its way to the floor of the convention for final decision were made Saturday in several quarters. There also were those who regarded it as possible that the prohibition question would be taken to the floor, but the Dry's, confident of a strong expression in the platform for law enforcement, were continuing their fight against "wet" candidates. Governor Smith's plans with regard to the convention work are carefully guarded, but formal announcement has been made that Franklin D. Roosevelt, former secretary of the navy, and candidate for the vice-presidency in 1920, will place his name before the delegates.

Although the McAdoo-Smith contest overshadowed their activities, supporters of other candidates for the presidency and "dark horses" were for from idle. Workers were here and there about the hotels pressing their claims of their favorites upon incoming delegations.

NEW HOT WAVE IS SUNDAY PROSPECT

Middle States Will Be Enveloped in Re-developed Spell of Heat

By Associated Press

Chicago—Another hot wave, a redevelopment of the one just broken and followed by storms which together took toll of more than a score of lives, will overspread the middle-states Sunday, Henry J. Cox, district forecaster, announced Saturday from the weather bureau.

The heat should spread as far north as South Dakota and Minnesota, it was said. There may be some storms attendant on the heat, and although there has been relief in storms and showers generally, the southwest, as well as the middle states will be affected by the redevelopment of the heat.

State And Government Seek Custody Of Woman

By Associated Press

Chicago— A controversy between state and federal authorities has arisen over the custody of Louie Drafka, also known as Newton, in connection with the case against the ten indicted on charges of robbing the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul fast mail train of $2,075,000 in securities and currency on the night of June 12.

Superior Judge William Lindsay Saturday ordered a thorough investigation of the custody of Miss Drafka, who is said to have appeared with $36,000 in cash in an effort to obtain the freedom of Willis Newton, one of the prisoners. She was immediately arrested and the money taken possession of by the police.

When a writ of habaes corpus was sought in an attempt to liberate her, Judge Lindsay, was informed she had been turned over to the federal authorities. This he had learned was subterfuge. The same statement was made to the court earlier in the week when writs were sought for certain other prisoners, and the police informed the court the federal authorities had taken custody of the prisoners. At that time, however, postoffice inspectors said the prisoners still were in the custody of the police. Beside promising a speedy trial for the men indicted Friday, United States Commisioner Beitler Saturday issued a subpena duces tecum for $60,000 in cash and jewelry taken by police from Willis and Newton. Whether the jewelry was part of the mail train loot has not been ascertained, although the currency was not part of that taken from the mails.

The currency will be shown to Texas officers now enroute here in an attempt to identify the prisoner as the men who robbed several Texas banks.

Miss Drafka has been taken to jail at Sycamore, Ill. She was to appear before Judge Lindsay at 10 A. M., Saturday but instead was taken to Sycamore.

The judge declared that the constitution and the laws of Illinois had been circumvented and he would make a full inquiry.

Kenosha Man Makes Unique Gift To Vets

By Associated Press

Kenosha—Using his birthday as the day on which to send a remembrance to 18,413 wounded war veterans, Henry S. Cooper, retired manufacturer of Kenosha, has carried out a most unique custom during the past week. It took a fortune in flowers—more than 200,000 peony blossoms, picked from the Cooper peony gardens at Dunmovin, the Cooper country home, one mile west of Kenosha along the Geneva road. The flowers were valued at more than $25,000 at the market price. It took also, hundreds of dollars in express bills and in labor needed to pick and crate the flowers to be shipped to government hospitals throughout the nation.

Mr. Cooper sent to every government hospital enough peonies that a bouquet of not less than ten could be placed at the beside of each and every wounded soldier there. This unique present was endorsed and praised by President Coolidge, who at the request of Mr. Cooper sent a list of the government hospitals to the Kenosha man.

ROONEY GOES TO CONVENTION AS SMITH DELEGATE

Group of 26 Wisconsin Representatives on Way to New York

F. J. Rooney left Friday afternoon for New York, to attend the Democratic national convention which begins its sessions next week. He is a member of the Wisconsin delegation and is one of 23 who are pledged to support Gov. Al Smith of New York for the presidency.

Mrs. Rooney accompanied the Appleton attorney. They intend to visit in Chicago until Sunday, when all the delegates will meet and journey to New York as a group.

The state's groups of 26 delegates to the convention includes 23 pledged to support Governor Al Smith of New York for the presidency. The other three members—J. C. Burns, LaCrosse, F. A. Russell, Superior, and W. V. Silverthorn, Hayward,—are pledged to the support of William G. McAdoo.

No special showing is expected by the Wisconsin group at the Democratic convention such as was made by the LaFollette delegation at Cleveland last week.

The delegation is composed of the following: John M. Callahan, Milwaukee; J. F. Kluwin, Oshkosh; M. L. Lueck, Beaver Dam; John Moran, Madison; G. L. Wwinnell, Waukesha; Calvin Stewart, Kenosha; J. P. Holland, Watertown; Adolph Pfister, Sheboygan; W. D. Carroll, Prairie du Chien; William Ryan, Madison.

W. T. Loohemez and Anthony Szezerbinski, Milwaukee; W. J. McCormick and V. J. Schoenecker, Milwaukee; A. J. Pfeffer, Chilton; M. K. Reilly, Fond du Lac; A. H. Schubert, LaCrosse; J. C. Burns, LaCrosse; D. D. Conway, Wisconsin Rapids; T. E. Schulze, Wausau; E. F. Murphy, Marinette; F. J. Rooney, Appleton; W. H. Frawley, Eau Claire; J. B. Piotrowski, Chippewa Falls; F. A. Russell, Superior; W. V. Silverthorn, Hayward.

The Pennsylvania hotel will be the Democratic headquarters. There will be a luncheon given by the New York City entertainment committee Monday and at night there will be a banquet given by Mayor Hylan at the Hotel Commodore.

Wisconsin delegates feel certain that Smith will be the choice at the New York meeting. Considerable attention to the Coolidge administration dry record will be given during the meeting.

While Smith is a wet, the delegates declare that he would stand for law enforcement. In contrast they point out that while Coolidge is dry by declaration, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has close affiliation with liquor interests and they emphasize the liquor scandals among high officials in Washington.

SLAYER OF ITALIAN DEPUTY ADMITS CRIME

By Associated Press

Rome—The newspaper Messaggero says Saturday that Amerigo Dumini, under arrest in connection with the supposed slaying of the Socialist deputy Matteotti, has made a confession implicating as instigators of the crime some of those under arrest and others, and indicating that the deputy's body was ultimately disposed of by being burned.

Matteotti, according to this confession, was killed almost immediately after he was forced into an automobile by his kidnapers.

Reds Are Faced With Task of Adopting Ticket and Building Platform

PREPARE FOR CLEVELAND

Berger and Hoan Serve As Temporary Chairman in Opening Session

Milwaukee—Faced with the task of placing a full state ticket in the field, building a platform upon which these candidates may stand for election in November and finding the attitude of the delegates relative to an endorsement of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette to lead a third presidential ticket, the state Socialist convention got under way here Saturday.

While the La Follette angle as well as the feeling of the delegates on the conference for progressive political action at Cleveland on July 4, probably will take up some convention time, in the presidential matter, from the viewpoint of the delegates, will be the nomination of candidates for the state ticket and the planks to be placed in the platform.

KENT AND QUICK NAMED

Two prominent Milwaukee Socialists have been mentioned for the nomination for governor on the convention's ticket. They are state Senator William F. Quick and Alderman Herman O. Kent. Both seemed to have quite a following among the delegates.

The committee to be named after the permanent organization is effected will comprise those on party administration and finance, party policy and platform and relations to labor, co-operative and farmer organizations. It will be the last named committee that probably will take up the matter of recommending resolutions concerning the July 4 Cleveland meeting, to be presented to the Socialist delegates to the Cleveland conference, Mayor Daniel Hoan and Victor Berger.

William Coleman, secretary of the state organization served as temporary chairman Saturday.

DRIVER IS JAILED AFTER ACCIDENT

Gust Brandt Damages Walter Koeppen Car in Crash on Highway

Gust Brandt of Appleton, was arrested and locked up in the county jail Friday night following an automobile accident east of Appleton city limits on highway 15 at 7:15 in the evening. He was charged with reckless driving and his case was adjourned to Monday. He was allowed to go free on bail.

Brandt's automobile crashed into the rear of a machine driven by Walter Koeppen, 472 Pacific-st, and occupied by the latter's family.

Mr. Koeppen declares that his automobile was almost off the highway and almost was stopped. Brandt was following another car. The first one turned out to pass the Koeppen car but Brandt kept a straight course and the collision took place, damaging the rear of the Koeppen machine considerably. The bumper saved Brandt's automobile from damage.

Brandt did not have a very clear idea as to how he ran into the automobile and his actions were so queer the sheriff's office was notified and he was taken into custody and locked up in jail overnight.

AMERICAN WIFE ESCAPES ITALIAN

Rome—The wife of Gen. Pier Ruggero Piccio, one of the aces of the World war and now commander of Italian aeronautics, who was recently prevented by her husband from sailing to America with her child, following numerous marital disagreements, has succeeded in escaping with the infant from Naples to Civita Vecchia, from which place she crossed to Sardinia and then went by motor boat to Corsica, according to reports published in newspapers here Friday.

She was formerly Miss Loranda Bachelder of Chicago.

Gen. Piccio, according to published reports, hurried to Sardinia and telegraphed Rome to rush him five hydroplanes with which to pursue his wife and child.

LOSSES IN SOUTH DAKOTA TORNADO SHOW INCREASE

Chicago—Tornado damage in South Dakota amounts to millions of dollars, a total loss of about 100 persons and a very severe loss to thousands of others, Walter Wesselius, disaster expert, telegraphed the central division of the red Cross here Saturday.

The storm damage in South Dakota was more widespread and severe than many early reports showed, Mr. Wesselius' report indicated.

LENROOT INSULTS NINTH DISTRICT, SCHNEIDER SAYS

Congressman Blames Junior Senator for Delay in Postal Appointments

Residents of Hortonville and other cities in the Ninth congressional district are wondering when to expect the appointment of a postmaster which is past due, but Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton, disclaims all responsibility for the delays. On the contrary, he blames the administration and United States Senator Lenroot, in a letter addressed to the district.

The congressman hints at bartering of offices by politicians in the appointment of postmasters. The letter in part follows:

"The people of my district are entitled to expect that their representative will be accorded the same consideration with regard to the post-office patronage, or any other matter, as any other congressman, no matter what part of the country he happens to be representing. That has been the practice in the past when respect, honesty and fair play still existed in the old political parties.

But what is the situation today? The policy of the present administration and its conduct toward your representative as well as to all those who dare to oppose certain legislation advocated by this administration that we believe is contrary to the best interests of the country, is clearly shown in the remarks of my colleague, Congressman Frear.

"This situation is a disappointment to every one and perhaps more deeply so to the contestants for these offices Although they know that only one of the candidates for each office can possibly be appointed, nevertheless, each candidate is anxious to see this matter definitely disposed of. It is not only a grave injustice to them but also an unpardonable affront to the people of the Ninth district and their representative. For this the administration and the junior senator from Wisconsin, the Hon. Irvine L. Lenroot, are responsible.

"Whether my recommendations for these appointments will be honored or not, I shall at no time for the sake of political appointments, barter away the interests of the common people and public trust that the people of the Ninth district have placed in me."

Sheriff Sure This Man Was Mentally Off

Eccentric, but not insane, was the opinion rendered by the examining physician in county court this week with reference to a stranger who had been held in the county jail for several days. But Otto H. Zuehlke needs more convincing proof, for, he points out, this man scrubbed the jails floors and cleaned the cuspidors without his being told. These, he says, are not the actions of a normal prisoner. The stranger who formerly was an inmate of an asylum, is now at large following his discharge by Judge Fred Heinemann.

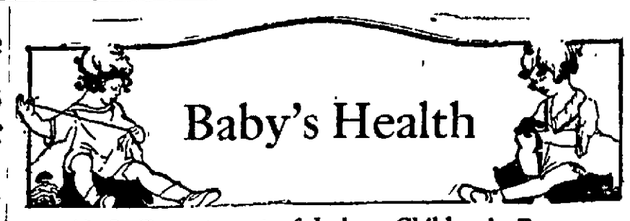

The stranger has his own opinion about Appleton, for in a letter which he wrote the Post-Crescent at 1 o'clock Monday morning from his cell he says that Appleton should have a population of 235,000 instead of 23,000, and that he has found the reason for Appleton's failure to expand to that degree, all of which he promises to explain by "some nice, clean and fair mud slinging," in the future.

RETIRED MARINE WANTED IN SERVICE

Frank Hoffman Will Train Young Men on Boats on Great Lakes

Frank Hoffman, son of Joseph Hoffman, 1167 Fifth-st, who has just been retired from the marine service on a pension, and who is visiting his father, is wanted by the government for training young men on Great Lakes government boats and probably will devote his time to that work after a several months' vacation.

Mr. Hoffman has had more than 30 years service in the United States army and navy. He enlisted in the army and after five years service, entered the navy with which he was connected for more than 25 years. He has seen service in all parts of the world. Hoffman was wounded during the Boxer trouble in China.

SUPERSTITIONS

Many superstitions have grown up around the mother and the baby. Some of these have had their origin in long past ages; others spring up from time to time. Most of these beliefs are of no value, and many are silly, even dangerous. One of these foolish traditions is that biting (instead of cutting) the baby's finger nails will prevent him from becoming a thief. Another, that his condition is effected by the phase of the moon; another, that wearing charms and amulets of various kinds will ward off disease, or that ill luck will follow if the baby looks in the glass. No modern mother, intellegent enough to read, should allow herself to be influenced by any of these or similar tales. The proper care of the baby consists in applying certain scientific health principles which have been reduced to working rules by specialists and made available for all mothers. These fundamental rules are not shrouded in any sort of mystery. They are plain and easy to understand and may be learned and used by the average mother.

It frequently happens that a young mother has so much advice from earnest and entirely well-meaning friends that she is bewildered, especially when one person's directions conflict with those of another. In some cases, of course, this advice may be the wisest and best; but in all cases she should have some standards of her own against which to measure what she is told. Her physician and nurse should be her first guides; later, in addition, she should have at least one book of recognized value to consult when she is in doubt. The proper development of the average baby follows a normal course; and, when the baby's growth is not proceeding as it should, the doctor should be consulted and his advice carefully followed. Above all, the baby should not be experimented upon first with one mode of care and then another, in accordance with the varioous opinions offered. Baby care is a great art and a great science; it is also the most important task any woman ever undertakes, and she should apply to this work the same diligence, intelligence, and sustained effort that she would give to the most exacting profession. It will only be when the profession of parenthood is thus dignified that children will come into their full inheritance of health, efficiency, and happiness.

CLEANLY HABITS

Children should be taught very early that it is not safe to use a handkerchief that has been used by some one else, and for similar reasons the use of the individual towels and wash cloths should be insisted upon. Every effort should also be made to teach a child to keep his fingers out of his mouth and nose.

To The Mothers of Appleton

If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health" call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

Police Captain Here

Captain P. J. Harding, in charge of the Shakespeare-ave police station of Chicago, Saturday called on his friend, Chief George T. Prim of the Appleton police department, with whom he was associated while Chief [illegible] lieutenant in the Chicago police department. Capt. Harding was on his way to the tourist resorts of northern Wisconsin.

Pettibone's Model House Bulletin

The Pettibone Model House will be completed within six weeks. The lathing was completed this week and all the outer walls packed with shavings as an effective insulation against heat and cold. Visitors tomorrow can get the first good idea of the interior of the house as the rooms are now completely walled in.

The Model House will be plastered next week. This would have been done sooner but every effort has been made to avoid possible cracking of the completed walls. The furnace was installed several weeks ago and allowed to run at top heat for ten days to thoroughly dry out all interior partitions and beams of the house. This will tend to prevent further shrinking of the walls when the furnace is used next winter.

The lawn of the Model House has just been graded and arrangements are being made to lay a curving flagtone walk from the front door to the street. This quaint touch will be especially appropriate with the Dutch Colonial house. The trees around the house will be trimmed and everything done to make the grounds in perfect condition for the new owner.

An unusual amount of thought has been given to the lighting fixtures that will be used in the House. These fixtures will be supplied by Langstadt-Meyer and the Langstadt Electric Company. The living room will be lighted by four silver wall sconces in addition to a liberal number of floor outlets for table and floor amps. A quaint wrought iron lantern will be used over the front door to carry out the unusual entrance effect. Each bed room will have a side light by the dressing table as well as a central ceiling light. Other rooms of the house have a large number of electric fixtures. The silver hanging candlabra of the dining room will be an attractive feature.

The bathroom of the Model House is especially compact in its arrangement. The recessed tub allows an extra closet for linens and towels, and the plumbing fixtures of the tub are in this closet so that they may be conveniently reached in case of plumbing troubles. The plumbing of the Model House is installed by the W. H. Patterson Company. There will be a special electric socket beside the lavatory in this room for an electric curling iron or electric heater. Small conveniences like these appear in every room of the Model House.

All of the walls of the Model House will be tinted, and the woodwork will be ivory enamel throughout. The downstairs rooms will have light buff walls and the fireplace will be faced with brick and tile to blend with these artistic walls.

The size of the living room allows space for many artistic groupings of furniture. All rooms of the house are not only of ample size but have carefully planned wall spaces for the placing of furniture. In the dining room, a great deal of space can be saved with the bay window which is intended for a buffet.

The breakfast room will be equipped with built-in furniture benches and a pullman table. The floor of this room, the kitchen and bath will be covered with high grade linoleum in the newest designs. Every effort is being made to produce a house that includes the best new thoughts of expert home planners. These many features will become more and more apparent to visitors as the finishing of the house proceeds in the coming weeks.

The purchaser's lists of the Model House are still open and registrations can still be made in the Advertising Department on the Fourth Floor at Pettibone's. This list now contains some six or seven names of people who have expressed a desire to own the House. The list will soon be closed and the Model House sold to one of the names listed.

Pettibone's Model House will be furnished and exhibited during the month of August. It will be ready for private occupancy September 1st.

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S LIMBS
In Rash. Spread to Body and Face. Cuticura Heals.

"When my little girl was only three weeks old eczema broke out on her limbs. It started as a rash and was very red. Later it spread to her body and face, and itched and burned so that I had to put mittens on her hands to keep her from scratching. She could not rest or sleep, and cried nearly all the time.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped her so I purchased more, which completely healed her." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Donoho, R. R. 1, Magnolia, Ill.

20 TEACHERS WON'T BE BACK NEXT YEAR

Turnover in Appleton's Teaching Force Is Only 11 Per Cent

Only 20 of the 168 teachers employed in Appleton public schools last year did not renew their contracts for the next school year, according to records in the office of Miss Carrie E. Morgan, city superintendent of schools. All of the vacancies have been filled, however, but the assignments have not been completed.

On that basis, the turnover in Appleton schools this year will be no more than 11 per cent. Appleton has long had the reputation of a small turnover. Some of those leaving are going to new schools, others are leaving to marry and others are leaving to continue their training for teaching.

Those who will not teach in Appleton next year are as follows: W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school, who will be absent for a year. Six teachers of the high school, will not teach. They are: Hester Harper, Dorotny Jones, Letha Dambruch, Robert G. Berkleman, all teachers in English, Dr. Earl L. Baker, instructor in music, and Leon C. High, assistant principal. The First district will lose four teachers, namely, Kathleen Kimball, English, Margaret Nicholson, science and study of vocations, Lucile Tice, fourth grade, and Virginia Lally, first grade. Those leaving the Second district are Dorothy Hart, kindergarten assistant, Lincoln school, and Amanda Franzke, third grade, Columbus school. The Third district will miss Ardessa Palmer, fifth grade, Third ward school, Regina King, English, Mildred Kaeding, fourth grade, and Florence Vandenberg, first grade, all of Washington school. Those leaving the Fourth ward school are Florence Leppla, fourth grade, Mrs. Arthur Zschaechner, formerly Pearl Rumpf and Frances Claire McCutcheon, kindergarten teachers.

MAKE GOOD TIME ON JOURNEY WEST

Walter Zschaechner, son of Mr. and and Mrs. H. Zschaechner, and Donald Van Rooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. VanRooy, left Appleton a few weeks ago for the coast and are making good progress in spite of weather conditions, although the large amount of rain hindered the trip a little. The roads according to boys, are in fairly good condition and they are able to make an average of 150 miles a day.

The entire trip will be made following the Yellowstone trail. At present they are at Livingston, Mont., and from there will go to Missoula, Mont. In a few days they expect to be in Yellowstone park, where they will camp for a week. They have had very little engine or other trouble so far.

In many of the campsites they met tourists from this locality, including some from Kaukauna and New London. All were headed for the coast. The camp sites, according to the young men, are well equipped and have gas for cooking, running water, irons for pressing clothes and other conveniences. After leaving the park the young men will stop at Spokane and Seattle, Wash.

DISMISS CASE DISPUTING POSSESSION OF SCALES

A dispute over the possession of a set of street scales on Oshkosh-st, Hortonville, ended in a dismissal of the action begun in muncipal court by J. A. DeNoble, proprietor of DeNoble hotel, Hortonville, vs. Platten Produce company, the Hortonville Fuel company and others.

The plaintiff declared that he is the owner of the hotel located opposite the street scales and that the scales are installed on his property. Serving notice on the defendants that they were not to use the scales, he fastened them last April only to have the scales broken loose and again used by the defendants, he asserted. He claimed damages of $50 for this act.

The Platten Produce company claimed ownership of the scales and maintained that they were not located on the hotel man's property at all but upon the street.

W. J. Butler of New London represented the plaintiff and Bradford and Bradford of Appleton represented the defendants.

THE " INSANITY" FARCE

A few weeks ago the Leopold and Loeb families issued a statement, evidently prepared by their attorneys, in which they assured the public that their wealth would not be used to frustrate justice in the case of their sons charged with the murder of the Franks boy. It was a dignified and appropriate statement. For the time being it was calculated to allay public apprehension that money might succeed in saving these young murderers from the gallows.

It appears, however, that money is to make the usual fight for the lives of confessed slayers. It is going to be replica of the celebrated Thaw case. A lot of alienists have been engaged to examine the young men, and they are now engaged in their mysterious performances. We read that hearts and lungs of the murderers are tested for evidences of insanity. A lot of other silly formulas are gone through for physiological and psychic "symptoms."

These so-called experts will pronounce both Leopold and Loeb insane in some form. There is not the slightest question about this. They would pronounce any other human being insane that might be put under their observation who was charged with a high crime, provided there was sufficient money to command their distinguished service.

The state of Illinois will have its own psychiatrists. They will make the same tests and go through the same formalities and they will pronounce the defendants sane. A great hullabaloo will be made by the attorney over this "expert" evidence. Whether the jury is befuddled into believing the insanity claims of the defense will depend upon the oratorical and personal persuasiveness of its attorneys. What a ridiculous seance! Pure and unadulterated hocus-pocus!

When some emotional person suffers a temporary brainstorm and kills a fellowman in anger or passion he generally gets the death penalty. Yet his offense is far more excusable than that of these two young fiends who for months planned to commit murder for the sake of "getting a thrill." They have committed one of the most monstrous crimes recorded in history. A person capable of such fiendishness may be insane, but if so we should have to excuse every murder that is committed. Instead of executing or imprisoning murderers in penitentiaries they would all go to insane asylums for a few years and then those with money or "pull" outside would be liberated. Some persons are just naturally cold-blooded in their disregard of the rights of others, and some are equally cold-blooded in the commission of crime. Leopold and Loeb were of this temperament, and that is all there is to the tremendous attempt to make them out insane. If they escape the just fate their crime deserves it will be money and crafty lawyers who save them, and nothing else whatsoever.

THE ST. PAUL TICKET

The St. Paul convention was an inauspicious event for radicalism. The convention was called with high hopes of nominating Senator La Follette for president. Mr. La Follette flattened out the meeting with his scathing denunciation of the men back of it and of communism. In his repudiation of the radicals who gathered in St. Paul Mr. La Follette did the country a genuine service, for it would have been within his power to give a great impetus to this movement. It is a good thing to know that he is as uncompromising a foe of communism as any conservative.

The Farmer-Labor convention turned out to be a dismal affair. It will have no political standing of any consequence, and its ticket will poll but a handful of votes at the election. Although a so-called conservative-radical has been named for president, the convention was dominated by the communists and the platform is communistic. It will afford all those of the United States who want the soviet system of government an opportunity to express themselves at the polls. It will be interesting to see just how many ballots a program which calls for nationalization of industries and of land itself will command, particularly among the farmers. How any farmer can be misled into support of a program which proposes to take away from him his land, the fruits of his toil and the freedom of his life is beyond our comprehension. We cannot believe that any intelligent farmers, even in the northwest, have been brought to believe in such a subversive and destructive doctrine.

So far as Senator La Follette is concerned he has made a wise decision in refusing the nomination for the presidency by the St. Paul convention. It would have cost him the support, in our opinion, of the one section of the country where he is strong and where he might have hopes of gaining a few electoral votes. We doubt if he could even carry Wisconsin on a communistic platform. The farce at St. Paul may be dismissed as of any significance or bearing in the election. The real factor of uncertainty is the progressive committee of forty-eight which will meet in Cleveland to decide the question of launching a third party.

THE CRIME WAVE

We used to associate the exploits of Jesse James bandits with stage coach days and the overland trains that were run through sparsely settled plains and over wild mountains. Gradually the development of cities and countries forced these desperadoes to more remote sections, until finally they were pushed out altogether when local and state police become sufficiently well organized to make their capture reasonably certain.

For the last twenty or thirty years we have been reading of the exploits of these gangs as thrilling tales of our pioneer days. They were receding into the background and the newer generations were coming to look upon them as something akin to fiction. For many years we imagined that such things could never occur again in this country, and we even wondered how these venturesome robbers succeeded in getting away with their hold-ups as often as they did.

During the last two or three years a violent crime wave has swept over the country. Robberies which for boldness eclipsed anything the western plains ever afforded have occurred in our large cities. Crimes in Chicago and New York have been sensational beyond belief. Millions of dollars have been stolen, innumerable people shot and murdered, property destroyed and the most fiendish acts committed. This year it has culminated in the Franks murder and in the robbery of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train, just outside Chicago, in which the loot aggregated some $2,000,000.

If we think the west was wild and woolly fifty or sixty years ago, what does the west think of the country these days? The crime wave has reached stupendous proportions. Agencies of government seem powerless to break it up. It is beyond control so far as suppression is concerned. The authorities are kept busy, not in the prevention of crime, but in the detection and arrest of its perpetrators.

Most persons are shocked at the orgy of crime, but they are not disturbed by the causes which produce it. These causes are social. They are peculiar to the times. Only when they are understood and grappled with in the home, in the schools, in social and industrial contact, and we get back to solid foundations through education, will the criminal tendencies be checked. It is the age of jazz and booze. Simple virtues are in disrepute. The human value market is off.

Nicest thing about being a man is you don't have to stay home after washing your head.

After having it six months many autoists almost know the number of their license plate now.

The difference between a success and a failure is that one gives reasons while the giver excuses.

With this year almost half gone many of us are feeling much further gone than that.

A BIG BARK

The most "terrible" coughs usually come from the least serious condition. I'll never forget the cough which Billy had. Billy was about the busiest young man in the most unhurried town in the state, a youth just the right age, temperament and complexion to make a fine subject of tuberculosis. He called his cough an "elephane cough," and it sounded that way. Frightful, everybody declared, and he ought to do something about it. It got on his nerves, especially the women folk who kept constantly warning him about his terrible cough. So he tried a few bottles of the cough medicine which happened to be featured by the neighborhood druggist at the time, and finally visited the doctor, in a great hurry and couldn't take time to undergo an examination. So the doctor tried on Billy some of the cough medicine which happened to be featured by the physicians' supply house at the time, and Billy kept right on coughing terribly and frightening everybody, even the doctor a little, until finally one day the doctor caught him in a lull of business and made him peel his shirt, and went over his lungs with great care and pains and found not a bit of trouble of any kind.

Great mystery, that cough. Well, presently the spring moderated somewhat and there came a Saturday night when Billy took a chance in the bathtub. Even got a little water in his ears. Next morning, he couldn't hear clearly and visited the doctor. There's little more to tell, as they say in novels. The doctor discovered large hardened masses of wax in the ears, and also discovered the source of the elephant cough, for the slighest touch of the wall of the ear canal where a little branch of the great pneumogastric nerve is disturbed brought on a sudden coughing spell every time. That nerve is the main nerve to the lungs and bronchial tubes. When the plugs of cerumen were removed, Billy quit coughing, much to the disappointment of all his good women customers who were working up sure cures for him.

That would be called "reflex cough." Still, the ear is really part of the respiratory tract, so it is not very remarkable that irritation even in the outer ear canal should induce a cough. Cough is sometimes a misleading symptom in acute antral sinusitis, a slow, hacking, annoyingly persistent cough, which might readily draw suspicion upon the innocent bronchial tubes or lungs.

Children who begin to bark and cough after they have gone to bed at night are commonly uttering a demand for the removal of adenoids. And a great many cases of alleged acute bronchitis in children are in reality merely acute inflammation of the lymphoid tissue in the roof of the pharynx—adenoiditis. An infant or child is likely to cough considerably when lying down, particularly lying on the back, in simple coryza—acute inflammation of the lining of the nose—from secretions draining down into the throat. To ply a child with any alleged "cough cure" in such circumstances is a pernicious but still a popular practice in some households.

If one found on a package of peanut butter or pancake flour a printed assertion that the food contained no paris green or strychnin, one would hesitate to use the food at all. But with medicines people are not so particular. They'll swallow almost anything that purports to contain no laudanum, say.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Rubber Soles

Boy, 10, fond of wearing rubber soled gymnasium shoes. Will they cause fallen arches? (W. F. J.)

Answer.—No. Rubber soles cause no ill results of any kind.

Tuberculous Cattle

Do you think it is dangerous to use for food animals that reacted to the tuberculin test? They were condemned by the expert for milking. (Mrs. N. J.)

Answer.—No. Much of the beef in the market is from animals that had tuberculosis. Cooking would of course insure safety from possible infection in that way anyhow.

How to Manage TB.

Please tell me how one can get your book on how your cured yourself of tuberculosis at home? (Mrs. M. F. A.)

Answer.—It can't be done. But I should be glad to send you a letter telling how to recover if you will provide for the purpose a stamped addressed envelope.

It was a neat little trick of that county speedcop to catch a certain New London speeder on the Wing instead of letting the bird get away.

Rear Rolla: The editor of the Waupaca Post who writes headlines telling which people "go to their rich reward," is some prognosticator. I'd hate to tell you to which place he has consigned you, but if you'll take my advice, you'd better save that electric fan you were thinking of selling.

—GUS GLOOM.

—o—

Here is one drunk that the police did not have the sad duty of fining. E. L. W. observed an alleged automobilist pull up on Pacific-st, stumble out of the car and gush, "I'm gonna get out 'n walk—hic—f'r don' want poleesh t' get me."

—o—

Doctors sometimes say after attending a man who was hurt in an automobile accident, "He wouldn't have come out alive if he had not been drunk." This would be an encouragement for all drivers to get drunk first. Give the Pacific-st drunkard credit for having some sense. A sober man would not have gotten out.

—o—

Here's a new suggestion for some Appleton barber. It ought to be a paying proposition to start up a bar-Bershops for men only.

—o—

Mr. Rollo: We are of the opinion that saleslades in department stores should not dress too well, especially not better than the majority of the trade. The other day a medium dressed lady stopped at the hosiery department. She needed those fibre silk hose that were on sale, but observing the fine clothes of the saleslady, she offered her alibi: "I just want them for wear on the porch."

ETHEL M.

—o—

Well, Ethel M., we do not see why the said lady should be embarrassed, since she had no intention to wear them on her feet, but merely on the porch. But if the saleslady dresses too much, it might be well for her to wear them on the porch.

—o—

One man came to the postoffice Wednesday to take the examination for weather observer. Maybe a change in engineers would do the weather some good. Give him a try-out, anyway.

—o—

In these days of service cars they frequently go out to tow in wrecked cars and three or four nervous wrecks.

Chapter Hears Report of Convention At Its Regular Meeting

Reports of the naturalization committee and of the state convention were read by Mrs. George Sutherland at the regular meeting of Womens Relief corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, Friday afternoon in Odd Fellow hall. One hundred and sixty comrades attended the convention.

At 2:30 Sunday the corps will meet at Lawrence Memorial chapel and from there will go to the grave of Mrs. Emily Gallagher, the member of the corps who died most recently.

It is customary to hold services at the grave of the member whose death occured last and to place flowers on this grave in commemoration of other members who have died.

A token of appreciation was given by the corps to Mrs. M. J. Newell, who is to make her home in Milwaukee. The next meeting will be held on July 18.

A social time followed.

PARTIES

A large crowd of spectators and dancers attended the pavement dance given by sports council of Appleton Womans club on Friday evening. Music for dancing was furnished by the Toreador orchestra. A lawn social was held in connection with the dance.

Mrs. George Wingrove entertained at a shower Friday evening for Miss Veronica Tracy, whose marriage to Raymond Selig will take place soon. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. George Vogel and Mrs. Charles Selig. The prize at games was won by Mrs. John Lupton.

Mrs. George Schwab entertained 30 friends and relatives at her home, 969 State-st. Thursday night for Miss Jewel Schwab, whose marriage to Harold Timmers will occur soon. A feature of the evening was a mock wedding. Prizes at five hundred were won by Mrs. E. Koss and Mrs. Alinor Gibson, the latter of Oshkosh. Dice prizes were awarded to Miss Lillian Shinners and Miss Leona Vogel.

WEDDINGS

Attorney Edwin S. Godfrey of this city and Miss Ruth Chandler of Waupaca, were married at 3:30 Saturday afternoon at Waupaca. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fremont E. Chandler, 506 Main-st, and was performed by the Rev. J. W. Clevenger, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The bride was attended by Miss Marvelle Nelson of Chicago as maid of honor and Miss Marjorie Godfrey, sister of Mr. Godfrey, as bridesmaid. The bridegroom's attendants were Dr. Thomas Kenneth Brown of Waupun, and Edwin Chandler, brother of the bride.

A reception took place at the Chandler home in the late afternoon and evening, with about 75 guests present.

Mr. Godfrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Godfrey of Waupaca, and is associated with the law firm of Morgan and Johns of this city.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON, CONTINUED

Syd, Ruth's answer to my question about women loving their children more than their husbands was most surprising. Without the slightest hesitation she said:

"Of course they do. A woman has the same feeling of possession in regard to her children as a man has in regard to his wife. They aspire to be the arbitrators of their children's fate.

"This however is something that is going to be done away with," continued Ruth, "for children are already asserting their independence. They will hardly now listen to dictation without reason."

Here, Syd, I realized that I had been putting off the fatal question. I had been starting Ruth on her feminine philosophy simply to keep her from telling me that she thought I should go to Leslie and tell her the whole story.

Just as I had screwed up courage enough to tell Ruth I would confess to Leslie that night she was called to the telephone, and I found that damned efficient press agent of hers, Dick Summers, had sprung something new upon me. He had written Leslie a letter asking her to be one of the patronesses at a reception given to Paula after one of her matinee appearances.

Leslie had consented to do this providing Ruth and some of her other friends would join her. The Summers individual was calling Ruth to tell her of the scheme. When Ruth came back to me she was almost smiling. I knew she considered it quite a joke, and then her face grew serious again.

"I shall tell Leslie to refuse," I ventured.

"You will do nothing of the kind," answered Ruth. "It is one of the best things that has ever happened to you. All her friends will go with her, and and it will effectually stop a lot of gossip."

"But don't you see now I cannot tell Leslie about the baby until all of this is over?"

"Of course I do. You will just have to wait, young man, and I think it will be a good thing for you. Until you married Leslie, Jack, you thought the world was your oyster, to open when and where you please. Now you find there are many other people who like oysters and come around trying to meddle with yours."

"Then I am no better off now," I said to Ruth, "than I was before."

"Yes, you are much better off, for you have decided to tell Leslie the whole story as soon as possible."

This is all at present, Syd. I'll write you again just as soon as I know how the whole thing is coming out. I don't mind telling you I am on a hot griddle and feeling my burns.

Goodby, old man. Wish you were here. Perhaps you could advise me.

JACK.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC

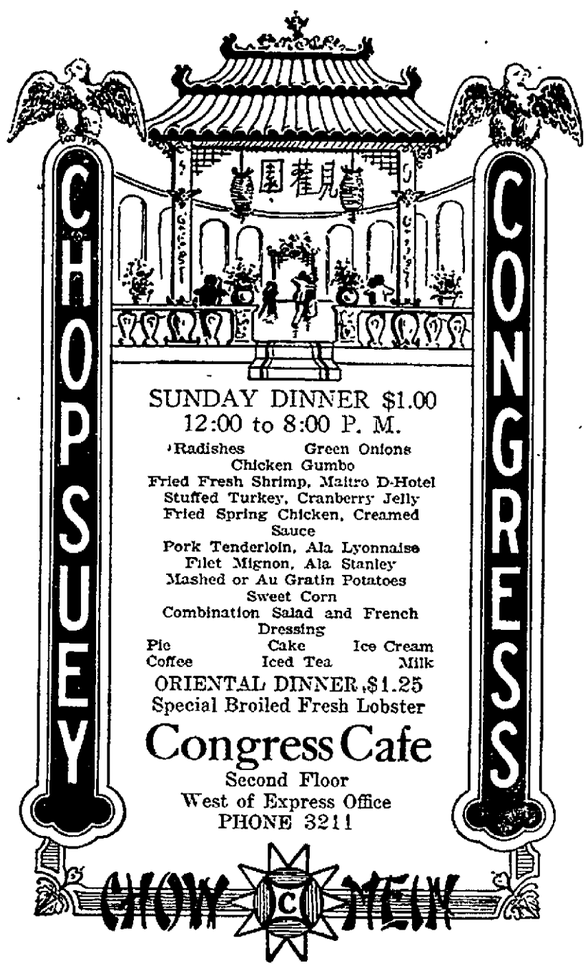

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter

Charleston, S. C. — "I was completely run-down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough."— Mrs. ANNIE YOUNG, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S.C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nation-wide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it.

Because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is reason why it should help you.

How You Can Protect Life Insurance Money

Will life insurance form the bulk of the estate which you will leave to your family?

You can surround your insurance proceeds with the same safeguards by which you can protect your general estate, through placing your policies in trust with this Company.

You can specify to whom the income from your insurance shall be paid, in what amounts, and at what periods; you can authorize us to make extra payments to meet such contingencies as you would desire to have provided for.

This method of protecting life insurance proceeds is being increasingly utilized. Our officers will be glad to talk with you at any time on the question of insurance trusts.

ELECTRICS READY TO BATTLE CHAMPS ON LOCAL GROUNDS

Stormy's Amateurs Gain Confidence Through Victory Last Sunday

Kaukauna — Electric City State leaguers are all set for their first battle of the season here Sunday afternoon with the mighty Menasha club. Stormy's amateurs broke into the win column last Sunday at the expense of Appleton and are anxious to see what they can do against the club which won the pennant last season.

The lineup for Sunday's pastime will probably be the same as last week. The choice as to pitchers, however, is doubtful. Pocan, Klister and Gertz are ready to take the mound.

Eddie Stumpf will direct the youngsters from behind the platter while Korthals, who played his first game last week, will hold down the first sack. A. Sager will be on second and either Melchoir of Clitsman will occupy third base. Edwin Sager will peavort in the left garden, Zink probably will fill the center field job while Kresse another addition to the club, will play right field.

A numer of the regulars were included in the lineup which was scheduled to fight the Chicago Giants this afternoon at the local grounds. None of the outside players are here and Kaukauna is being represented against the colored gentlemen entirely by local talent.

A win from Menasha is almost too much to expect but the club will be satisfied if it is able to make the visitors work for a victory.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The G. G. G.'s met Thursday evening at the home of Miss Clara Hoolihan, 202 Sixth-st. Prizes at cards were won by Miss Anna Wolf and Miss Celia Spindler.

The regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus will be held Monday evening in the K. C. clubrooms on Wisconsin-ave. A prominent speaker will give an address.

ADVANCEMENT CLUB WILL HOLD PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Kaukauna—Cards were mailed Friday to members of the Advancement association notifying them of the basket dinner and supper beginning at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening at the municipal playgrounds. Members are being urged to bring their families. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and a business meeting of the association will follow. Coffee, sugar and cream will be provided at the grounds.

WORKMAN RECOVERING FROM ELECTRIC BURNS

Kaukauna—Harold Stegeman, who was injured by electric fire two weeks ago at Thilmany sulphate mill, returned from the Appleton hospital Thursday. Stegeman was severely burned about the face and arms when he attempted to pull an electric switch which shuts down the machinery in the woodroom. He is rapidly improving but will not be able to return to work for some time.

SHERWOOD PERSONALS

Sherwood—Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Miller and family were Sunday visitors at St. Nazians with relatives.

Miss Marie Weber and Gilbert Strebe of Sheboygan, spent Sunday at the J. Strebo home.

C. A. Steffen of Milwaukee, is spending a few weeks at his home here.

Miss Irma Strebo of Menasha spent Sunday at her home here.

Miss Elizabeth Brantmeier was a caller at Appleton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Schaefer and son Norbert of Appleton, spent Wednesday evening with relatives here.

Mrs. J. P. Strebo daughter Mildred and Ed Feese were Appleton visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Strebo, Miss Marie Strebe and Ed Fees were business callers at Sheboygan Friday of last week.

COUNTY LINE NOTES

County Line — A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Brahm June 9.

Mrs. Jacob Dashmier and son Perry of Little Rapids, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Harry Burt.

Edgar Philips and children attended the fair at Kaukauna Saturday of last week.

Rile Clough of DePere has moved to the Morrell farm.

Carl Childs was a Wrightstown caller Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brahm and children and John Brahm autoed to DePere Tuesday.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Nelson left Saturday for New York where they intend to attend the Democratic national convention.

Miss Anita Ruby has returned from Oberlin, O., where she has just graduated from college.

BOOST CONVENTION AT PICNIC OF C. E.

The Rev. Vernon Couillard Addresses Societies of County

Kaukauna — Between 50 and 60 Christian Endeavorers from Kaukauna, Appleton, Kimberly and Seymour attended the county picnic Friday evening at Crouche dam near Kaukauna. Miss Margaret Bond, county president, presided. A triangular banner with the C. E. emblem and the word "Outagamie" was presented to the Kimberly and Seymour societies for having the largest representations present. The banner was donated by E. E. Cahail, tailor, Appleton. Kimberly will retain the banner for part of the year and then it will be given to Seymour to hold until the next county rally.

The purpose of the picnic, in addition to the social end, was to hold a sunset service along the bank of the river and to hear about the state C. E. convention in Milwaukee, June 26 to 29. The Rev. Vernon Couillard, who after a visit in Green Bay will take up a pastorate in Indianapolis, Ind., was the speaker of the evening. He gave an interesting talk on impressions gained by attending Christian Endeavor rallies and conventions.

A new idea of success is one of the first impressions gained, the speaker said. Most people are considered successful who have a little of the world's goods, who drive a luxurious car and who have social standing, the Rev. Mr. Couillard said, but true success is in spiritual things.

Another impression which the speaker has gained from conventions is that selfishness is not as large as a word as service although the former has more letters in it. At the conventions one is impressed with the magnitude of Christian work when one sees the leaders giving most of their time to promoting God's kingdom and working without salary.

Following the sunset service a social hour was held around a huge fire.

HOME NINE PLAYS SEYMOUR SUNDAY

Kaukauna—The homeplayers team of the Fox River Valley league will go to Seymour Sunday and will meet Seymour the second time this year. Kaukauna easily beat Seymour in the first meeting. Stormy's seconds have hit their stride and are only a short distance from the top of the ladder and have good prospects of climbing upward. The lineup Sunday will include N. Kilgas, catch; Stegeman, pitch; G. Phillips, first base; Walton, second base; Cavanaugh, short stop; Francois, third base; Koehne, left field; W. Kilgas, center field and Ashauer, right field. Ashauer is a new addition to the club and is expected to strengthen the hitting ability of the team considerably.

Kaukauna Churches

Kaukauna — Announcement has been made of a change in the schedule of regular Sunday and weekday services in Holy Cross church. Masses during the week are held at 7 o'clock and at 7:30 each morning. The Sunday morning order of service in Holy Cross and in other city churches is as follows:

Holy Cross, the Rev. Msgr. P. J. Lochman, rector — Masses at 5:30, 6:45, 8 o'clock and 9 o'clock.

First Congregational, the Rev. Daniel Woodward, pastor—Sunday school, 10 o'clock; morning worship, 11 o'clock. The pastor's morning sermon will be "The Sin God Will Not Permit to Be Forgiven in This Life nor in Eternity." The young peoples' choir will render special selections.

Congregational Boys club every Tuesday evening.

Choir rehearsal every Wednesday evening.

The Ladies Aid society will hold its meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Albert Rasmussen. Important business is scheduled to come up after which a social hour will be held.

Brokaw Methodist church, Rev. W. P. Hulen, pastor—Sunday school, 9:30, lesson "Restoration and Reform." Morning worship, 10:30, theme: "The Sabbath the Bulwark of our [illegible]." The honorable Arthur H. Bartlet of Milwaukee, will occupy the pulpit. No evening services.

St. Mary church, the Rev. F. X. Steinbrecher, rector—Masses at 5:30, 6 o'clock, 8 o'clock and 10:15.

Reformed church, the Rev. E. L. Worthman, pastor — Sunday school, 9:30. English worship, 9:30; German worship, 10:30. A report of the Sheboygan classic session will be given.

Trinity Lutheran the Rev. Paul Oehlert, pastor—Sunday school, 8:30; English communion services, 9:30; German worship, 10:30. No services Sunday, June 29.

Suffers Stroke

Stephensville—Walter Braun of Ellington suffered a stroke of paralysis Friday and was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. The boy is about ten years old.

Picnic and Dance, Sun. P. M. and evening, High Cliff Park. Gib Horst.

WEYAUWEGA WILL ENTERTAIN HUGE LODGE GATHERING

Annual Picnic of Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Will Occur Sunday

Special to Post-Crescent

Fremont—Waupaca County Picnic association has made preparations for a large gathering at the Weyauwega fair grounds Sunday. The association is made up of camps of Modern Woodmen of America and Royal Neighbors of America in various cities and village of the county.

The principal event of the day will be the address by A. C. McHenry of Oshkosh. This speaker is well and favorably known throughout the state and his address will be of interest.

There will be an abundance of music. The R. N. A. of Weyauwega will lead in the community singing.

Competition drills will be held by the R. N. A. drills team of New London, Waupaca, Shiocton and Weyauwega. This event has developed into quite a rivalry. The banner given to the winning team remains its property for a year, when they again must defend its title.

Lieut. Chester McCarthy of Weyauwega will later in the day handle as a unit the forester drill teams of Waupaca, Weyauwega and Dale, as these teams will all be in uniform. The scene is one that will be remembered for some time.

The boy scouts will take part under leadership of a trained executive.

The public is invited to make this a day of recreation and pleasure.

CORPS OF 80 MEN AGREES TO OBTAIN BOY SCOUT QUOTA

Canvass Will Be Made Next Wednesday to Raise $1,250 for 1924 Work

Approximately 80 men from the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs will put the boy scout work of Appleton back on a firm footing when they go out next Wednesday in a campaign to raise $1,250. They will make an average of about five calls each on a list of 300 persons whom it is believed will want to see this activity maintained.

This quota represents Appleton's share of the budget of the valley boy scout council to pay the operating expenses for the remainder of the year 1924. One liberal subscription already has been made from the Rotary club treasury and the remainder is to be requested from individuals.

The manner in which workers have volunteered to do this work indicates how hearty an indorsement has been given the boy scout movement by the three clubs. Almost every member who was at the respective meetings last week agreed to take part of the cards and make calls to raise the amount.

This money will go toward the work which Paul O. Keicher, recently engaged as executive of the valley council, intends to carry out. His program has not been prepared definitely as the troops now in existence have dropped their meetings for the summer. His efforts will be centered on organization work until fall, principally that of forming new troops in churches, schools and other institutions and the selection and training of leaders. Once the work becomes well established he will announce a program of scout activity such as will stimulate interest greatly.

SUGAR BEET FIELD CASE TAKE UNDER ADVISEMENT

The municipal court case involving a dispute over the rental of a sugar beet field, has been taken under advisement by Judge A. M. Spencer. It is the case of E. B. Richardson vs. John Stodalo, Saul Bricco and Chester J. Vedner. The plaintiff owns the land rented to the defendants and claims rental of $286, while defendants asked $888.86 for damage done to the sugar beet crop by the plaintiff's livestock.

DEGUIRE LINKS UP WITH RAIL UNION

Former Local Railroad Man Leaves U. S. Employ for New Job

G. N. DeGuire, manager of the department of equipment, United States railroad administration, has left the government service to join Grand Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in the co-operative banking field and is located with the Empire Trust company of New York City.

Mr. DeGuire was born in Appleton, March 31, 1884, and was educated in the public schools and high school. In 1902 he entered the service of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company as locomotive fireman and was promoted to the position of locomotive engineer in 1906, and for ten years served as locomotive fireman and engineer.

In 1916, he received a civil service appointment as inspector of locomotives, with the interstate commerce commission. After remaining with the commission from December, 1916, to Jan. 1, 1918, he resigned to enter the service of the United States railroad administration as supervisor of railroad equipment.

At the termination of federal control, Mr. DeGuire was appointed assistant manager, department of equipment, division of liquidation claims of the United States railroad administration, and on July 1, 1923, was promoted to the position of manager of this department, which he held until the work of the department was concluded on May 31.

West Coast In Need Of Rain That Fell Here

Wisconsin tourists contemplating a trip to the Pacific coast will find conditions there in marked contrast to the weather conditions of Wisconsin. While local regions have had showers almost daily for several months, agricultural and wooded areas of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California are parched for want of rain. Extreme dryness is reported everywhere except where freakish showers afforded local relief. "The worst in 55 years," says one bulletin, and another says, "Comparison with this time last year is like comparing the Sahara desert with the ocean." Although heavy timber stands have so far escaped serious fires, full summer forestry forces are on duty everywhere and are being taxed by fires in burns, slashings and second growth. Tourists are cautioned against carelessness in the use of matches, cigrets and campfires.

DRUGGISTS WANT TO REMODEL STATE LAWS

Complete redrafting and remodeling of the state pharmaceutical laws will be taken up and worked out at the annual convention of Wisconsin Pharmaceutical association at Green Lake June 24 to 27, under plans completed by Prof. W. O. Richtmann, University of Wisconsin, state secretary. Practically all Appleton druggists will attend some of the sessions.

Among the more important proposed changes in the state law will be those relating to licensing requirements for pharmacists and prerequisite educational qualifications before taking admission examinations. A committee probably will be named to prepare the proposed changes and present them to the next legislature.

Between 400 and 500 druggists from over the state are expected to attend the convention. Approximately 600 are members to the state association while there are approximately 2,000 registered pharmacists in the state, according to Prof Richtmann.

Sweden has 1,116 motor busses, 12 to every 1,000 inhabitants.

Miller, Milwaukee.

Nearly all of the above lawyers died during the year.

COUNTY CONSIDERING ISSUE OF NEW MAP

The proposal of a map company to print a new supply of pocket maps for the county was rejected by the county printing committee at a meeting in the courthouse Friday. On the other hand, the committee instructed John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to communicate with Frank M. Charlesworth, county surveyor, on the advisability of drawing a new map of the county. Bills of more than $1,500 were allowed by the committee at this session.

SO BIG

By Edna Ferber

"Now tell me what you had to eat," she would say, sociably, like a child. "What did you have for dinner, for example? Was it grand? Julie tells me they have a butler now. Well! I can't wait till I hear Aug Hempel on the subject."

He would tell her of the grandeurs of the Arnold menage. She would interrupt and exclaim: "Mayonnaise! On fruit! Oh, I don't believe I'd like that. You did! Well, I'll have it for you next week when you come home. I'll get the recipe from Julie."

He didn't think he'd be home next week. One of the fellows he'd met at the Arnolds' had invited him to their place out north, on the lake. He had a boat.

That'll be lovely!" Selina exclaimed, after an almost unnoticeable moment of silence—silence with panic in it. "I'll try to not fuss and be worried like an old hen every minute of the time I think you're on the water ....Now do go on. Sobig. First fruit with mayonnaise, h'm. What kind of soup?"

He was not a naturally talkative person. There was nothing surly about his silence. It was a taciturn streak inherited from his Dutch ancestry. This time, though, he was more voluable than usual. "Paula..." came again and again into his conversation "Paula.. ..Paula.. " and again "..Paula." He did not seem conscious of the repetition, but Selina's quick ear caught it.

"I haven't seen her," Selina said, "since she went away to school the first year. She must be—let's see—she's a year older than you are. She's nineteen going on twenty. Last time I saw her I thought she was a dark scrawny little thing. Too bad she didn't inherit Julie's lovely gold colouring and good looks, instead of Eugene, who doesn't need 'em."

"She isn't," said Dirk, hotly. "She's dark and slim and sort of—uh—sensuous"—Selina started visibly, and raised her hand quickly to her mouth to hide a smile— "like Cleopatra. Her eyes are big and kind of slanting—not squinty I don't mean, but slanting up a little at the corners. Cut out, kind of, so that they look bigger than most people's."

"My eyes used to be considered rather fine," said Selina, mischievously; but he did not hear.

"She makes all the other girls look sort of blowzy." He was silent for a moment. Selina was silent, too, and it was not a happy silence. Dirk spoke again, suddenly, as though continuing aloud a train of thought. "—all but her hands."

Selina made her voice sound natural, not sharply inquisitive. "What's the matter with her hands, Dirk?"

He pondered a moment, his brows knitted. At last, slowly. "Well, I don't know. They're brown, and awfully thin and sort of —crabby. I mean it makes me nervous to watch them. And when the rest of her is cool they're hot when you touch them."

He looked at his mother's hands that were busy with some sewing. The stuff on which she was working was a bit of satin ribbon: part of a hood intended to grace the head of Geertje Pool Vander Slide's second baby. She had difficulty in keeping her rough fingers from catching on the soft surface of the satin. Manual work, water, sun, and wind had tanned those hands, hardened them, enlarged the knuckles, spread them, roughened them. Yet how sure they were, and strong, and cool and reliable — and tender. Suddenly, looking at them, Dirk said, "Now your hands I love your hands, Mother."

She put down her work hastily, yet quietly, so that the sudden rush of happy grateful tears in her eyes should not sully the pink satin ribbon. She was flushed, like a girl. "Do you, Sobig?" she said.

After a moment she took up her sewing again. Her face looked young, eager, fresh, like the face of the girl who had found cabbages so beautiful that night when she bounced along the rutty Halsted road with Klaas Pool, many years ago. It came into her face, that look, when she was happy, exhilarated, excited. That was why those who loved her and brought that look into her face thought her beautiful, while those who did not love her never saw the look and consequently considered her a plain woman.

There was another silence between the two. Then: "Mother, what would would you think of my going East next fall, to take a course in architecture?"

"Would you like that, Dirk?"

"Yes, I think so—yes."

"Then I'd like it better than anything in the world. I—it makes me happy just to think of it."

"It would—cost an awful lot."

"I'll manage. I'll manage:... What made you decide on architecture."

"I don't know, exactly. The new buildings at the university—Gothic, you know—are such a contrast to the old. Then Paula and I were talking the other day. She hates their house on Prairie—terrible old jumpy gray stone pile, with the black of the L.C. trains all over it. She wants her father to build north—an Italian villa or French chateau. Something of that sort. So many of her friends are moving to the north shore, away from these hideous south side and north-side Chicago houses with their stoops and their bay windows, and their terrible turrets. Ugh'"

"Well, now, do you know," Selina remonstrated mildly. "I like 'em. I suppose I'm wrong, but to me they seem sort of natural and solid and unpretentious, like the clothes that old August Hempel wears, so square-cut and baggy. Those houses look dignified to me, and fitting. They may be ugly—probably are—but anyway, they're not ridiculous. They have a certain rugged grandeur. They're Chicago. Those French and Italian gimcracky things they—they're incongruous. It's as if Abraham Lincoln were to appear suddenly in pink satin knee breeches and buckled shoes, and lace ruffles at his wrists."

Dirk could laugh at that picture. But he protested, too. "But there's no native architecture, so what's to be done! You wouldn't call those smoke-blackened old stone and brick piles with their iron fences and their conservatories and cupolas and gingerbread exactly native, would you?"

"No," Selina admitted, "but those Italian villas and French chateaux in north Chicago suburbs are a good deal like a lace evening gown in the Arizona desert. It wouldn't keep you cool in the daytime, and it wouldn't be warm enough at night. I suppose a native architecture is evolved from building for the local climate and the needs of the community keeping beauty in mind as you go. We don't need turrets and towers any more than we need draw-bridges and moats. It's all right to keep them, I suppose, where they grew up, in a country where the feudal system meant that any day your next-door neighbour might take it into his head to call his gang around him and sneak up to steal your wife and tapestries and gold drinking cups."

Dirk was interested and amused. Talks with his mother were likely to affect him thus. "What's your idea of a real Chicago house, Mother?"

Sheboygan Looks For Tough Battle Sunday Against Papermakers

Chairmakers Batted Against Eddie Stack While He Was With Fort Atkinson in Lake Shore League.

Sheboygan fans are looking forward to a classy baseball contest Sunday when the Papermakers invade that city for the first time. The Chair City boasts a new ball park this year and the magnates are determined to give the fans who enabled them to build it their money's worth. Thus far the Chairs have done that and have climbed to the top of the ladder in the process.

Most of the men on the Sheboygan club are veterans of last year, well known all over the circuit. "Buster" Braun, veteran slab artist, outpitched Steel, a big leaguer who hurled for Green Bay Sunday, showing he is still going strong. Kober is at the receiving end, but according to reports from the Chair City is not doing much work with his stick this year. Bartzen holds down the initial sack. Dillman, a new comer is at second and Wangeman on third. Peebles, shortstop also is a veteran Chairmaker, as are Wilke, Wilson and Hellberger in the outfield.

CHAIRS KNOW STACK

Sunday will be Eddie Stack's first contest with the Chairs since he signed with Appleton, but not the first time he meets the Sheboyganites in battle. The Chairs batted against him in the old Lake Shore league when he was with Fort Atkinson and found him a hard nut to crack. Since that time he has lost none of his prowess, as the Chairmakers will find Sunday.

There will be several new faces on the Appleton lineup at Sheboygan. Red and Les Smith will be back, while Ted Lamers is out with an injured leg and Brismaier has been released. Stack and Babiness are the battery; Amy Weisgerber will do his stuff at first, Marty Lamers at second, Bergerino at short, and Red Smith completes the infield at third. Sylvester, Les Smith and Ed Weisgerber are the outfield staff.

HOLDSWORTH AND DAWSON FIGHT FOR GOLF HONORS

By Associated Press

Chicago—Western conference golf honors rest between Mode Holdsworth of Michigan and George Dawson of Illinois, with close play expected in Saturday's finals of 36 holes.

Both came through the semi-finals in decisive fashion. Holdsworth defeating Carl Engstrom of Indiana, 7 and 5, and Dawson winning from Don Heppes of Northwestern, 8 and 6.

YALE CREW BEATS HARVARD ON EVE OF OLYMPIC TRIP

Race Marks Close of Two Years of Uninterrupted Victories

New London, Conn.—On the eve of departure for France and the Olympic struggle on the Siene for the world's rowing championship, Yale, as if to make doubly certain her right to represent America abroad has imposed a three-fold defeat on her ancient rival, Harvard.

On the heels of decisive victories over Harvard's Freshmen and Junior varsity crews Friday on the Thames course, the Yale university eight by four length led home the Crimson crew.

The race over the four mile course at the end of a perfect day for Yale marked the close of two years of uninterrupted victories for Yale and closed the second college season under the tutelage of Ed Leader, former coach of the University of Washington crew.

The contest which again demonstrated Yale's right to row in the Olympic championships, on honor won but a week ago, was a gruelling one. Unmarked by spurts, but noted for its steadiness, in which Yale gained an early lead and increased it at an average of a length each mile. The Blue crew finished strong at a stroke of 37.

PIERCY'S CONDITION IS NORMAL AFTER ACCIDENT

Detroit—Bill Piercy, Boston pitcher who was struck on the forehead by a sizzling liner in last Wednesday's game between Boston and Detroit, was still confined to his hotel room here under the care of a physician Friday. The pitcher sustained a slight fracture of the skull. His condition attending physicians said, is normal.

AMERICAN RACE TRACKS MULTIPLY IN 10 YEARS

Ten years ago there were but four running race tracks in active operation in this country. Now the number exceeds twenty.

UPPER, FLORENCE FOX; LOWER, MARTY BELOW.

Martin P. Below, captain of the University of Wisconsin football eleven last fall, and who was the unanimous choice of Big Ten coaches as All-American tackle, will join the ranks of the benedicts soon.

"Marty," who has just accepted a position as assistant football coach at Wisconsin, will marry Florence Fox, pretty Badger co-ed, whose home is in Glencoe, Ill. Below hails from Oshkosh, Wis.

SIXTY SEVEN YACHTS ENTER COLUMBIA RACE

By Associated Press

Chicago—A fleet of 67 yachts, the largest ever entered in a Lake Michigan port to port race, fight it out Saturday over the 33-mile course from here to Michigan City, Ind., in the thirty-third annual Columbia Yacht club race. A return race over a 52-mile course will begin at Michigan City Sunday.

Youthful Golf Star Of Texas Seeks Pro Title

Young Harry Cooper of Dallas, Twice Winner of State Crown, Is After Bigger Game.

From Texas, producer of great baseballers of the Speaker-Hornsby type, and great footballers of the McMillin grade, comes word of a golfing genius, a 19-year-old youth who aspires to glory in the professional ranks. His name is Harry Cooper and Dallas is his home.

Young Cooper has just won the Texas open championship, easily demonstrating his class in a big and rather formidable field. The tournament was held over the long, testing Country Club course in Dallas and Cooper kept close to par all the way.

Only once did he drift into the ways of the duffer. This was over the first nine, where wildness off the tee and slipnod putting swelled his total to 42. Unmindful of his mediocre start the youngster came back in par figures and from that point on continued to play after the manner of a Hagen. His ultimate total of 302 was not at all bad, considering his start of 42.

Cooper's victory was not a surprise to the betting boys around the Adciphus. They had seen him win this same event a year ago at the age of 18, and they knew he was supremely the stuff. As Bobby Jones is looked upon with awe and reverence among the amateurs in Georgia, so is Cooper, three years younger than Jones, hailed as a linksman of the first link among the professionals in Texas.

Cooper will invade the northern climes in September to compete in the national professional championship at French Lick, Ind. Not only will the Texas youth be the youngest entrant in the event but the most potential of the dark horses.

A year ago Cooper was a competitor in this tournament at Pelham Bay. After qualifying handily he drew Cyril Walker and was bumped off. Possibly you've seen this Walker's name in the sport headlines here lately. At that Cooper matched the open champion shot for shot up to the green. It was his inferior putting that gave the decision to the Englishman.

Cooper's game is thoroughly orthodox and is as sound as a marble pillar. It ought to be. Cooper senior was a pro himself.

GOLFERS GET SET FOR BRITISH OPEN

Hundreds of Entrants Do Daily Practice Stunts on Difficult Course

Hoylake, Eng.—Most of the 277 amateur and professional golfers entered in the British open championship, which will be played here next week, are already on the ground doing daily practice stunts with woods, irons and putters. They are finding the Hoylake course, which is always a tough and difficult one, harder and longer than ever before.

Five holes of the links have been lengthened during the past few weeks in preparation for next week's competition and the course now has a length of 6,640 yards.

EIGHTY TO QUALIFY

The qualifying rounds will be played on Monday and Tuesday over the Royal Liverpool club course, the championship course here, and the links at Formby several miles away. Each competitor will play 18 holes over each course. Eighty players having the lowest scores for 36 qualifying holes, plus all those who may tie for eightieth place, will be permitted to take part in the championship test of 72 holes over the Royal Liverpool course on Thursday and Friday.

Arthur G. Havers is defending the open title won at Troon. The field he must beat to retain the trophy embraces all but three or four of the best who ran the champion a tight race last year. They include such stalwarts as MacDonald Smith, Gene Sarazen, Jim Barnes, Abe Espinoza, Ralph Clarkson and John Farrell—all Americans, and also Douglas Grant, an American amateur residing in London, who was semi-finalist in the 1923 amateur championship and is at present champion of Surrey.

Speaker Wins, 11 To 9, Using Fifteen Men To Eighteen Of Ty Cobb's

Giants Chalk Up Seventh Straight By Defeating Boston When Lou North Fails in First Start.

New York tendered its homecoming Yanks a cool, damp reception, which caused a postponement of their opening tilt with the Red Sox and incidentally deprived the world's champions of a chance to increase their slender lead over Detroit as the Tigers lost to Cleveland. Huggins' troupe, however, hopes to show the Boston invaders that they belong in third place or lower Saturday.

It required almost four full teams to settle the Cleveland-Detroit argument Friday. Speaker managed to win an 11 to 9 decision with 15 players against Cobb's 18. Each team used three pitchers and all were slugged unmercifully.

Washington took advantage of St. Louis' idleness enforced by rain, to pull abreast of the fourth place Browns with a 3 to 2 victory over the Athletics in a 12- inning game.

The Giants continued their winning ways in Boston with a 6 to 2 victory over the Braves and chalked up their seventh straight victory. Lou North, who contracted the losing habit as a member of the Cardinal staff, was unable to break it in his first start under Manager Bancroft.

In a slugging frame of mind, the tallend Phillies humiliated the Robins to the extent of 10 to 1. Dutch Reuther had one of his off days and withdrew under fire in the third. Decatur and Greene, his successors, fared little better.

Superior stick work gave Pittsburg a 9 to 4 triumph over Cincinnati. Both Morrison and Rixey were batted out of the box.

Columbus baseball fans were given a real treat Friday when they saw Eddie Murphy as pinch hitter, walk to the plate with the bases full in the eighth inning, the home team behind and then knock a homer, enabling his club to win, 9 to 4.

Indianapolis dropped their first complete series of the season when Milwaukee copped the final game, 11 to 3, over the helpless work of Pitchers Niles, Smith and Eller, which was coupled with two Indian errors.

A good fielding game with good pitching gave a 3 to 2 score to Toledo against Minneapolis. The fielding defense of both clubs kept the score down.

Eleven innings of good baseball, with seven rounds of excellent mound work by Holley and Schupp resulted in a 4 to 3 victory for the Colonels. Kansas City did not make a run until the eighth inning when they scored 3.

FORMER BADGER CHAMP WINS HULLABALOO TILT

Chicago— Richard Kavanaugh of Kenosha, formerly Wisconsin golf champion, Wednesday won the Hullabaloo meet at Bobolink club with a score of 73, three strokes better than his nearest competitor, E. Hoover Bankhard of Chicago.

WALKER AGREES TO FIGHT LEONARD IN MATCH FOR TITLE

Champion Will Defend Welterweight Crown, But Date Is Indefinite

New York—Mickey Walker will defend his world's welterweight title against Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and Dave Shade will meet the winner, the New York state athletic commission announced today.

Details have not been settled, but Chairman Brower of the commission said the three principals had agreed to place arrangements for the two bouts in the hands of the commission. At least one of the battles will be fought in New York state and efforts will be made to stage both during the outdoor season, Mr. Brower said.

Walker's acceptance of terms which will eventually lead to a bout with Shade, has removed the disapproval of the state athletic commission which had banned the welterweight champion until he agreed to defend his title against Shade. The challenger has accepted the proposal of the commission to postpone his meeting with Walker until the much talked of battle between the two champions is decided.

Benny Leonard's answer to high lightweight challengers will be allowed to hang in abeyance until the Walker match is fought, Mr. Brower stated.

PICKEREL—Part 1

Gather around the table, ye angling friends, and we'll discuss a few little things about the lil' old "pickie" or "snake" as some of the fishing fraternity class the pickerel, but the Latin name for this long jawed and bodied scrapper is esox reticulatus.

To begin with, the pickerel is really abused more than any other fish that swims and some of the 'boys' wouldn't think of taking a "pickie" home as a feed, classing it with sheephead of dogfish, but on the contrary the pickerel is about one of the best—with the exception of the bones—if properly prepared.

As a scrapper he is not as "peppy" as the black bass or the pike, who fights his battles under water but there are certain water where you will find him with enough pep to put up a lively battle, especially so if the waters are those of a spring fed lake and if one happens to hook up to a 12-pounder in waters of this sort, he could make any angling "artist" call for help.

The pickerel has a sulky disposition and somewhat selfish in his habits. He will hunt up feeding ground that offers pretty good prospects and stick around that spot for an entire season, defending his rights against all comers, not classed in his species, and when you happen to cast into a "pickie nest" or feeding ground, you may be well assured that there's more where he came from and it will pay you to stick around, providing you do not stir up too much fuss in landing the first one. To demonstrate this I have had the experience of landing fifteen (the limit) with one or two casts between each of them.

The Nut Cracker

OLD-TIME OLYMPIC HEROES NO. 2

BACK in the days when croquet was a game for red-blooded ruffians rather than a chaste chuckle for pink-cheeked harpists, Mortimer J. Piffleworth loomed large and horrible on the horizon of sport. Indeed, Piffleworth was to lawn billiards what sinks are to kitchen and hangnails to fingers.

• • •

Mortimer never got the credit that was coming to him. The boys knew him too well. History fails to record that Mortimer was the first real champion under the old London prize ring rules. History is right.

• • •

Mortimer never side-stepped a worthy challenger. He got more fun tripping 'em. Mortimer was an out-and-out amateur, too. When he wasn't out of his head he was out of funds. Mortimer wore his laurels lightly. Most of the time he had nothing else to wear. You would never take him for a champion. In fact, Mortimer was very close and it was a trick to take him for anything.

• • • •

It was at Athens in the early '70s, if memory serves—and it does—that Mortimer won his greatest Olympic shame. Well do we remember the day! And whadaday! The packed stands. The howling multitudes. The blaring bands. The hot dog vendors. The burgomaster, tossing out the first croquet ball. The drama of the battle itself. And then the winning wicket—a long ringing single that bounced off the first baseman's shins.

• • • •

Many of the experts claimed that Firpo had been given a short count, but unprejudiced observers took this with a grain of salt. In those days it was a quaint Athenian custom to take things with a grain of salt. In other countries, subsequently, the quota was raised to three grains.

• • • •

Mortimer J. Piffleworth was the only croquet champion ever to retire undefeated. His parting words, a magnificent contribution to classic literature, were, "Lafayette, what will you have?" It is not recorded what Lafayette's answer was. Some historians say this and others say that, so it is hard to know just what to believe, if anything.

• • • •

Piffleworth, who is looking on as we write, refuses to discuss the matter. "You might add, though," he suggests, "that I was always good to my mother."

JACK SCHOENDORF OUTPOINTS NUSS IN GREEN BAY GO

Young Church of Green Bay Takes Bad Beating from Young Fields

Jack Schoendorf of Milwaukee Friday night won a newspaper decision over Jimmy Nuss, husky DePere slugger in the 10-round main go of a fight card in Turner hall at Green Bay. The battle was a cyclone for action from start to finish and the packed house was on its toes most of the time. Nuss dropped Schoendorf to the canvas in the fifth but the tough Cream City battler was back on his feet immediately and came back apparently stronger than ever. Schoendorf took six of the ten rounds while two went to Nuss and two were good draws. Both fighters showed more class than ever before and won a host of friends. Nuss went in at 151¾ pounds and Schoendorf fought at 156¾. Despite the weight handicap Nuss was in there every minute and several times stood up for an exchange in which he came out on top.

In the semi-windup Battling Herb of Oshkosh took a slight shade over Young Lamping of Milwaukee in eight fast rounds.

Young Church of Green Bay took a bad beating at the hands of Young Fields of Milwaukee in the second preliminary. Church was practically out on his feet in the third stanza, but Fields was unable to down the tough youngster, who came back strong in the next round, but was completely outclassed.

Young Blazer, Green Bay, and Ferrier of the same city fought to a draw in the four round opener. They weighed in at 170 pounds.

Grignon Will Help To Coach At Marinette

Roy Grignon who graduated from Lawrence this year has been signed as assistant football coach at Marinette high school. Grignon was one of the star players of the Blue squad and before his advent at Lawrence he had four years' experience on high school elevens and two with army teams.

Grignon holds the Lawrence record for the javelin throw since he heaved the lance 167 feet 4 inches. He was prominent in all lines of athletics and is expected to be a valuable aid to Tom Johnson at Marinette.

SULLIVAN TAKES DUNDEE'S TITLE IN GOTHAM FIGHT

Defeat of Veteran Defender Astonishes Crowd of 12,000 Fans

By Associated Press

New York—By virtue of his decision over Johnny Dundee in a ten-round match in Brooklyn, 'Kid' Sullivan of that city is world junior lightweight champion. The defeat was arranged by the National Sport alliance for the benefit of aged pugilists.

Despite a strong finish, Dundee was unable to overcome the advantage gained by his antagonist in the early rounds. Using the champion's own tactics, Sullivan slugged through Dundees' clever defense and accumulated a commanding lead on points during the first eight rounds.

Sullivan, who is of Italian extraction and whose real name is Stephen John Tricamo, was born in Brooklyn on May 21, 1897. He has been in the ring 13 years. He recently knocked out "Babe" Herman, but lost a decision to Mike Ballerino only two weeks ago.

LITTLE FIVE HEADS MEET IN MILWAUKEE

State Conference College Presidents Discuss Violation of Freshman Ruling

Presidents of colleges in the Little Five athletic conference Friday convened in Milwaukee to decide upon measures to be taken in regard to Carroll college of Waukesha which is disregarding the freshman rule, forbidding the participation of first year men in conference competitions. Dr. Plantz represented Lawrence, and Beloit, Ripon and Northwestern also were represented as well as Carroll.

Beloit refused to play until Carroll complies with the conference rule, while Ripon and Lawrence, who already have contracted for game next fall, will carry out their schedule with the Waukesha school.

Women were first given the vote in New Zealand.

A Message from
Walter P. Chrysler—

When I say the good Maxwell is the best four-cylinder car at anything like its price in America today, I am thinking of specific accomplishments of the last year.

For instance, vibration subdued to the vanishing point; revolutionary riding and driving results; main bearings rarely if ever replaced; 18,000 miles from a set of tires, and so on.

Maxwell of today is more than the good Maxwell—it has been developed to a plane of superiority far above and beyond the dead level of previous four-cylinder possibilities.

Complete chassic lubrication while you wait

NEARLY every motor car owner knows his chassis should be lubricated every 500 miles, but most of them neglect it because they still think they either have to do it themselves, or leave their car several hours at a garage.

If you're one of these owners, you'll be glad to know that we're equipped to lubricate your chassis completely in a few minutes, with the best lubricant money can buy—ALEMITE—and at a cost that is very low. Every job is done under careful supervision and an absolute guarantee of satisfaction.

Drop in some time and let us show you what a real lubrication service is. And while you're here, ask about our "year-round lubrication" plan. It will save you some money.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO PAVING CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, The Board of Public Works, of the City of Appleton, Wisconsin, will receive sealed bids or proposals until Monday, July 14, 1924, at 4 P. M., for paving Lemniwah-st from Pacific-st to Wisconsin-ave, in accordance with the plans and specifications heretofore adopted by the common council, and now on file in the City Clerk's Office, in the City Hall, Appleton, Wisconsin, with a permanent pavement having a concrete foundation with a wearing surface of the following accepted kinds of city pavement, to wit: Number 1 concrete, asphalt, armorplated concrete—vibrolithic method.

The common council of the city will select the kind of pavement to be used after the bids or proposals are received, and costs determined.

The persons or parties making bids or proposals shall furnish same on proposal or contract blanks prepared by the board of Public Works, and no bid will be considered which is not accompanied by a contract with sureties, as prescribed by the forms so furnished and as provided by Section 62.15 of the Statutes of Wisconsin for the year 1923, complete with the exception of signatures on the part of the city. Blank copies of such form or bid, or proposal and contract can be obtained from the city clerk, Appleton, Wisconsin, by person desiring to bid.

The power and right to reject any or all bids or parts of bids, according to law, is reserved by the Board of Public Works.
